In the second precinct, which comprises the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Fourteenth and Fifteenth wards of this city, the convention was held in the Seventh attendance of voters as could have beet desired, but there were, according to a Liberal estimate, twenty times the number that assembled there on a similar occasion

The convention was remarkable in one sense at least—and that was the harmony that provaled. There were but a couple of tiffs between C. K. Giberist and M. M. Kaigha, and Giberist and O. J. Hollister. Both of these were caused by Giberist becoming a triffs too explorant, and they were not lively enough to be worthy of natice.

B. G. Raybould gave O. J. Hellister.
C. K. Gilchrist thought O. W. Powers would make a good light and cover the convention, himself, and the party with glory.

Mr. Hellister declined. He had no time toutlend to the many duties that would devolve upon the successful nomines, and would prefer that his name be withdrawn.

Mr. Haybould withdrew Mr. Hollister's name and substituted that of Waldemar VantOct, who he thought, would faithfully serve his constituents.
